

Honoring 75 years of Service...

In December of 1941, America entered into WWII. Earlier that year, black cadets became a part of America's history and fighting force, in the Army Air Corps, by training at Tuskegee Institute. They later became known as the Red Tails and alternatively, the Tuskegee Airmen.

That was 75 years ago...

As an international oral historian, speaker, lecturer and a “voice” of the Tuskegee Airmen, the RON SPRIGGS EXHIBIT of TUSKEGEE AIRMEN provides student presentations about these “Gladiators of the Skies”. We encourage administrators and teachers to plan early in the school year to avoid schedule conflicts, with testing cycles, spring and winter breaks. We are fee based and provide an “audience-friendly” Power-Point presentation to, “school assemblies” (usually 2 in the morning and 1 in the afternoon) for grades 4 thru 12 and college. We are not limited to schools, because we also present, speeches to civic audiences, military briefings and corporate assemblies.

Ron Spriggs in a WWII Officer's Uniform

Mr. Spriggs is an award winning, oral historian, speaker and lecturer of Tuskegee Airmen history for nearly 15 years. He has presented the Tuskegee Airmen history, as far west as California, Las Vegas and throughout Kentucky. His speaking engagements have carried him to many cities east of the Mississippi River, Mexico and London England.

Our presentations are available to any school system (public, private, Christian or special needs). Prime show dates are from October through April. Mileage and lodging expenses may be required for extended distances or presentations. School coordinators may contact us directly at (859) 576-3636(m) or ronspriggs@aol.com. Go to our website www.rseta.org to view a brief outline of what is presented.
